

Who are we?

The Guernsey Bereavement Service is a voluntary, low-cost counselling service available for adults.

The aim of the service is to meet the needs of the bereaved regardless of age, sex, religion, ethnic background or cause of death.

What do we do?

We provide emotional support for any adult struggling to come to terms with a significant loss usually, but not always, a death. We give you the opportunity to talk through issues in a non-judgemental and safe atmosphere.

We offer sessions by appointment with trained volunteers, where you will be listened to by people who understand.

For many people just being able to talk through their situation can be a means of relief from guilt, anger, depression, rejection and many other challenges that suffering a loss may bring.

Our volunteers

Our volunteers are drawn from varied backgrounds and undergo training (both initial and ongoing) to maintain the highest possible standards.

All volunteers working with clients receive regular independent supervision and all agree to abide by the code of ethics of the National Counselling Society.

This code emphasises the importance of confidentiality.
